Dear Sweetheart,

Yes, I am finally in town again and I just got this sheet of paper to write you my daily letter. I'm at the American Red Cross where I've been most of the day since it's been raining.

My buddies and I arrived here about 11 AM and we then had a bit to eat. We can buy sandwiches, ice cream and coffee for four cents each item.

We went to the movies and saw that old picture "Hold Back That Dawn", which I did see it before I enjoyed seeing it over again. It was the first movie I saw since arriving at my present camp.

We were listening to the swing records and playing ping pong. I safer my eyes my self, better than I did the last time I was here.

It's getting late now so we probably be starting back to camp after I complete this letter.

During the week I was near you because I could see you. When in the movies I looked so lets hope I would be to love with a girl. All my love and kisses, dearest, I love
D. B.
