My Beloved Judy

Again I got mixed up with my dates because earlier in the day I sent you a Valentine card and I had Feb 5th on it. I believe that I made the same mistake with yesterday's letter so now you understand! if you observe the mistakes in dates in relation to days.

In Aaron's latest letter he enclosed the conclusion from the December issue of Reader's Digest of the story "Let the Hurricane Roar". I read it last night while in bed and it was good reading. There was something about the story that really made me enjoy it. Have you read it? If so you probably understand what I'm talking about. I'm still reading "The Seventh Cross" and I finished the first chapter in that book. Have you read it? Before you or my brother send me a book like that you should if you don't read it first.

Yesterday while listening to the ~~new~~ radio I heard a recorded broadcast of the "Hit Parade". Those girls still seem to go for it. Sinatra in a big way, according to the screaming I could hear them making.

Every thing here still remains to be the same, as you most likely can hear over the radio.

I'm feeling fine, and I certainly hope that all is well with your folks and family.

With oceans of love, unconditional love
