Hello Dearest

It looks as if the first good rain that we had for some time appears to be over. It was raining all last night and early this morning. Because I got a little tired and I didn't feel like going to the kitchen to eat our morning chew I'm now waiting for that noon meal to stimulate my stomach.

Last night I sampled a Italian dish that I had back in the States. No dear I didn't have it with you but once when I went to a Italian restaurant when I worked sometime at my defense job. Can't think of the name of it but I'm sure you wouldn't know what it is. I don't care for the dish that's why I only had a very small piece. The dish is round like a pie made of bread and on the top there are different vegetables. It also could be made with cheese.

I've been looking and reading a old edition of the Sunday News. Now don't tell me I shouldn't read it as just looking at a New York paper feels good. It even is dated there. There are a few Life magazines that I've been looking at also. I show the pictures to the stations so that they can have a idea of how wonderful it is back home.

On my street and around me, there are only five to six families. I'm only friendly with one landlady, and any man who speaks a good English. We don't bother with the other people because they don't understand us nor we them.

That about covers today's news. Everything is ok here and I hope darling that you and family are well.

With all my love
Pat
