My Dearest Judy,

Now I'm writing to you from a cave that was occupied by the Germans recently. The cave is well dug into the ground and covered direct hit with a shell would not do much, if any damage. Scattered around here are letters written in German, which I picked up and intend turning over to someone who can read the language.

I haven't received and neither will I get today's mail today because of the rate of changes as to different positions the mail seems to be unable to catch up, but within a day or two I should be getting it.

Instead of the Land R. ration as we mostly be getting regular hot meals as our kitchen moves right along with us.

I'd like to know how my <sup>cousin</sup> Henry is coming along as I'm aware that he is in the thick of things and as soon as I can obtain information, I'll inquire. It appears as if I have his <sup>company</sup> address as the one I figured it to be, never heard of him.

Darling, keep your lovely chin up and don't work hard. Enjoy yourself at the beach and if all goes well possible, my hope I'd be able to join you and be able to duck you - uncheerful - all my love & kisses
Ben
