My 3 loved Sweetheart,

Another cloudy and rainy day but the weather didn't prevent Ray and I from going to visit Robert and Andre. We arrived again at Robert's house just before dinner time, and Robert's mother prepared another excellent meal.

This time we had vegetable soup, plate loads of French fried potatoes with tender veal cutlet. Then we had the cheese, sponge cake with <sup>cherry</sup> chocolate syrup almost like a pudding coffee, plus the usual red table wine. The meal honey was wonderful, and you can to stay. Now the boys want to return to Paris to inquire about school and from there, Andre could return home to visit his parents. ~~and he~~ The problem is transportation. They can not go by train and the boys were planning on leaving by auto today but something went wrong therefore now they will have to wait until they locate someone with a car going to Paris.

After the dinner we went for a walk in town and in the town they were having movie pictures for the G.I.'s so we took Robert and Andre in the theatre to see a musical show, "Step Sincerely." The picture was entertaining.

Oh, yes I didn't get the snapshots, because the photographer hasn't electric to develop the prints.

possible imagine how much I enjoy eating there, because not only are the meals delicious and home cooked but the environment is so different than when I eat with the outfit, it gives me a closely feeling to home life. Especially while sitting around the table, chatting on one topic or another.

Yesterday I was too hasty in writing you about Robert and Andre going away because their plans did not fall through.

You see both Robert and Andre goes to college near Paris and Andre home is somewhere on the west coast of France and due to the heavy shelling in that sector, Andre came to Robert's house
