AMERICAN RED CROSS

Monday
Oct 23, 1944

My Dearest Judy,

I'll ease your mind immediately if by the type of stationery I'm using you think something is wrong.

Decided to write a air mail letter today and this stationery which is handy is better than the pad writing pad I have.

Now that you should be relaxed sitting in a soft comfortable chair I can continue with the letter.

Stopped to realize a moment that practically every thing I carry around with me, besides being G.I. comes from you.

The pen I'm now using, ring bracelet, pipe I'm smoking and pouch to carry the pipe tobacco in.

That's all the things I can think of at the moment. Darling I appreciate and love each one of the gifts because it leaves me in your mental presents always.

Lately I've been smoking the pipe more often than cigarettes because I feel it wiser from the health standpoint of view.

I've always been anxious to obtain Peem and Maple tobacco for my pipe but it's unobtainable here. Every one says it's an excellent tobacco and just the type I believe I'd like since it's mild and sweet. I'd appreciate it dear if in your next package, if it isn't too much trouble for you, if you enclose one package of this special tobacco "Rum and Maple" so I can sample it

Mike has written me of the renewed possibility of buying a car. I hope the deal materializes as it's about time the family bought a car.

There isn't any mail from you today dear but I won't complain as I've received a few letters during the past few days from you. The day isn't over, and possible the mail will arrive later in the day.

in that large scale operations are being carried out in the Pacific while the European war
isn't over yet.

While writing this letter I'm listening to a rebroadcast of the Jack Benny program which always has plenty of good laughs.

Sweetheart, I love you very much, and I'm not in despair
that our reunion will eventually be real and not just another dream.

Remain in good health and keep that lovely grin up as your morale with effect mine.

as always,
