This is the next to the last sheet of this fancy stationery and I don't know when I'll be able to buy more of the same type of some kind similar.

I especially like to send you this type of stationery because honey I feel you deserve nothing but the best in every thing ~~it~~ I can afford to say such a statement because this stationery is too expensive but I honestly mean it in all respects but undoubtedly I would not be able to fulfill that remark in other items that's far more expensive.

Saturday or Thursday I love you just the same and will so long as my heart continues to beat and for you to, its beating double ^{now} ^{as always} ^{and it has been}

My Dearly Beloved Judy,

Received two more mail letters from you dated Oct 15th and 17th plus you more cheerful special stationery letter of Saturday Oct 14th.

The air mail letter arrived in good time considering it was postmarked Oct 16th thus taking only ten days to arrive.

You attending a political meeting without my influence, say that's exceptional good or did some thing occur at the last minute that changed your mind of going with your folks.

you clearly understand the statement I wrote, in that book influenced my writing that irritated letter you had to read.

Before you even had a chance to inform how stupid I was in thinking that way I'm glad I recognized my stupidity myself as you probably are aware from a later dated letter from me telling you of it.

Don't worry darling, I doubt if any of my ideas will ever again come from that source, and if you ever notice anything wrong please don't hesitate to inform me.

Started reading Bob Hays book of "I Never Left Home" and it's typical of his silly nonsense and which is always good for a laugh.

In your letter of Oct 18 you probably will inform me if the meeting was interesting or boring, it probably was the latter case as each speaker usual repeats the speech of the previous speaker except for a slight variation. It is a very important election here because if the sincere and honest politicians aren't elected chaos apparently it might mean all the bloodshed and fighting by the new ones here will be in vain. It's just as important that the super machinery for peace at home be established as the war be won overseas.

Glad you are enjoying the book & the "The Prodigal Women" but more so that
