My Darling Judy,

I was surprised today to receive another Christmas package from you honey. One was really sufficient but I was delighted to receive it. More so I'm glad you prepared your own package instead of buying a ready gift package for servicemen. The personal touch to selecting the items is much better and your selection was wise. Thanks once more darling for another splendid gift.

I expected the dictionary to be in the package but it wasn't. Did you enclose the dictionary in still another package? If you didn't then dear just send me the book by itself, first class mail I'll get it quicker and it isn't necessary to send me any more packages for while.

Played the baseball game all ready and its enjoyable. Before going to sleep I'll have a mid-night snack of the crackers peanut butter and jam. For a hot drink we will prepare the cocoa.

Today we are having our first snowfall and by the news paper you New York had its first snow yesterday or the day before that.

All my love and kisses
Ben
