

Put Ben Sec in 328 98252
HQ Bldg 93AFABldg.
A 20 158 90 PM NY. 24

Miss Judith Berman
817 West End Ave.

New York, # 25
apt 3E

487

I can't understand why there are such delays in you receiving my letters, but eventually you should get them, if they don't go down with the ship.

It's kind of late now darling, when I'll be off, good night, pleasant dreams and remember I love you very very much and Dorey I miss you ~~some~~ of tremendously.

All my love & kisses
Den

wednesday
Nov 29, 1944

Hello my love,

Today I finally reached my outfit, after a hectic and long trip back from the rest camp. The trawling time took much longer on the return trip, because we really have been progressing just as I anticipated, in the two or three stores that were opened in the town I couldn't see any decent, or reasonable priced souvenirs to buy. I realized that this was probably the last opportunity I had of buying you some <sup>then</sup> have been nice for mother but as soon as I saw the price tag, my mind quickly besetted I wouldn't buy it, can you imagine a lace blouse priced at 2200 francs which is equal to forty four American dollars, I couldn't believe it.

The blouse is one of these types you would detest, for yourself since it was thin and many large holes between the stitches. I do think that my mother would have appreciated it. Tooh if I was now, this problem wouldn't be half as complicated.

I received your U mail dated Nov 15th today dear.

from France. After a slight hesitation, I figured I well I might as well buy the enclosed article rather than nothing at all. The handkerchief isn't much, and isn't to be excepted as a gift or a present but just a souvenir from here.
Thinking of the ridiculous price I paid for it reminds me of those slippers but don't worry honey, the price is nearly the same. To me the handkerchief would have been worth more.
Remember it isn't necessary the article but she thought behind it. I also bought the same for mom, in the same store I saw a beautiful lace blouse, that would