My Dearest Sweetheart,

Thursday
Dec 21, 1944

Today I received your Thanksgiving day letter and I'm glad you had a regular Thanksgiving celebration. In another few days I believe we will have another Turkey dinner. I feel positive that your turkey dinner must have tasted much better than the one I had.

I've noticed that the civilian people are getting prepared for the Holiday. I thought the street children are carrying Christmas trees.

The weather must be getting cold now because when I go outside for a few minutes I see that the water from the drains have developed into ice. I don't remain outside long enough to know how cold it really is.

That's all the news for today darling
all my love and kisses
