My B loved Judy,

Sunday
Feb 11, 1945

Since its raining today the best place to be is indoors, and that's where I am.

The radio situation has been solved at least temporarily, temporarily. Someone obtained a civilian radio and we installed it in our room, so now we can listen to some good American programs, music and the latest world news. Nothing is being mentioned on the Big Three Conference. Guess no news will be revealed until the end of conference.

We received some P.K. items today consisting of four tropical chocolate bars, two other kinds of candy and heavenly cigarettes. My squad keeps all our cigarettes in one box and when we run short we just take a pack. I obtain all I need, but not always the popular brands. No cigarette shortage for us front line doughboys.

Didn't receive any letters today dear but tomorrow another day, and I'm be hoping.

That's all the news for the quiet Sunday. It's feel peaceful here because I don't even hear the roar of any artillery pieces. all my loves Ben
