My B loved Sweetheart,

See, but here it is another Saturday again, which reminds me how much I use to look forward to this day, especially after the sun started to set.

I gave the mail clerk ten dollars for a money order I'm going to send you dearest, and he is the reason. Last year I was able to order for Mother, flowers for Mother's Day, but the deadline for doing so here was a few days before I joined the outfit, therefore I decided I'll mail you the money, and you could go to a florist to select something nice from the both of us. Darling, instead of buying fresh flowers I'm sure Mother would prefer a plant, that wouldn't die quickly. It doesn't have to be an expensive one. Around five to six dollars, with the remainder of the money, how about getting spending it on flowers for your mother from the both of us. I pray! It will be a few days before I receive the money order but it should reach you in ample time.

When to the movie this evening, and oh, how I would like to be escorting you darling to the theatre.

The picture I saw was titled, San Diego I love you. after finishing this letter I'll probably cook some coffee and then hit the bed.

Don't know why I didn't think of enquiring about visiting Howard Harris before today but it finally dawned upon me.

He isn't very far from where I am, approximately thirteen miles separates us. Now that I'm quartered where I am I'll have the opportunity to go over and give House a surprise. I spoke to my platoon leader and he is going to find out about transportation. Probably I'll get transportation when one
