My Dearest Judy,

Just returned from the movies from seeing Danny Kaye in "Wonder Man. It was the first time in a long time that I got a continuously laughed at the comedial picture. If you have not seen it dear I think that the picture is worth while to see even though it is ridiculous but very funny.

By far the nicest part of today was receiving your lovely letter written on my birthday. I can't understand the delay in the mail service cause I've been writing you regularly darling and the letters shouldn't take as long as they do to reach you.

Here is receipt for the twenty three wonderful kisses on the I!O! U. Better store up an abundants of energy cause I don't think that pay day will be to far off. And at that time your I.O.U. will not be acknowledged any longer.

School days , school days yes dearest the battalion finally opened up classes for one hour a day between the hours of three to four in the afternoon. I had a choice of three subjects to select from and I decided to study "The Small Business" ~~xxxx~~ course. The classes are being held in the next town where service company is located and five men from each company can attend each of the three course's offered. For the opening day the turnout was so good, possible for the reason that the fellows aren't so interested in studing so long as they have to do it on their time but if the classes ~~was~~ was to be held in the morning everyone would want to go to school. I feel that it's best the way it is. This way every student present is their for one reason he is interested in studing the course. Our first hne hour class was very good. Must of the period was spent in discussions and naturally I added my two cents worth. We have text books, the same used by the United States Armed Forces Institute.

*Goodnight my love and sleep well I miss you more and more and love you with all my heart, yours
Ben*
