AMERICAN RED CROSS

Saturday
Oct 27th 1945

My Beloved Darling,

Here it is another Saturday and another 27th of the month, naturally with such a combination it turned out to be a nice day as I received two letters from you today, that's the first time in ages, that I received two of your letters on a single day. Your airmail letters honey were dated Oct 20th and 21st. The letters were in there original form. As you might know, airmail letters no longer are photographed.

I don't think that it is necessary for you to look daily at the arrival of troops darling, cause if possible I'll send you a cablegram just before I board a boat and that should reach you in ample time.

The journey will take anywhere from six to eighteen days, therefore you will have sufficient advance notice. It probable won't be for another two to four weeks yet that I embark on a ship.

As far what division I'm in honey the answer is that I'm in none, once again I'm in a bastard outfit, like I use to be in, the 93rd FA Bn.

Consequently when we finally do arrive in the States we will be listed as the 291 FA OB. Bn. Since we are a small unit perhaps we won't even be listed.

Delighted that you received the scarf and liked it, but I'm still curious to know if you ever received the novelty box that I mailed, you must have mentioned it, in one of your letters but I never did get that letter. When I return home, I'll have a little gift that you can place in the novelty box so it won't be empty.

Surprised that the "Times" had the 75th division and 12th armored division mentioned as returning, as to the best of my knowledge and according to the Stars and Stripes, the 75th division is just stated to go to a P.O.E. next week, and the 12th is now being altered but the division is still in Germany.

yes, darling, I also thought that by this time I wouldn't have to be writing you but rather telling you, that I love you with all my heart and always will,
forever yours,
Ben
